Potential Student Profile / Criteria for Admission:

What the award is about and who the programme is aimed at:

The BA (Hons) Sport Development and Coaching award is for individuals with a keen interest in the development of sport and athletes at any and all levels or in community development through sport, and who wish to experience, develop and qualify as coaches. The programme will combine a theoretical and practical approach to understanding and engaging with the sport development and coaching industries, which will allow students to develop strong, transferrable academic and professional skills and practise delivering sport to the community in a number of projects, placements and volunteering opportunities. The course aims to stimulate students to employ a critical and politically informed lens to create culturally-aware, inclusive and reflective sport development strategists and coaches.

Why students should choose this award:

Students should choose this award if they are seeking to study an exciting course, developed with input from industry professionals, at a university that has been a pioneer in sport-related studies over the last 15 years and has a strong reputation for delivering vocational sport courses. The programme focuses on the contextual and operational challenges facing the sport industry with an aim to developing students that might engage with individuals, communities and organisations to promote participation opportunities, develop athletes, and contribute to the betterment of people's lives through sport. It will help them to establish and maintain networks, organise and run sport events and initiatives, and create, implement and evaluate important sport policy concerning such things as health, social inclusion and crime and anti-social behaviour. The programme is forward-looking and remains fully responsive to ongoing changes taking place in sport development, making full use of the combined industry and academic knowledge and experience of our dedicated staff and of our partnerships with public and private sector, local, national and international sport organisations.

Opportunities available for students after completion of the award:

Students completing the award will be highly employable in a field that values transferable graduate skills and prior engagement with the industry. According to Pitchford (2005) there are three primary job profiles in sport development: a) coaching, leadership and face-to-face work; b) facilitation and coordination; and c) management. These roles may be fulfilled within a number of host organisations, but the majority of sport development personnel work within local authorities, small-medium sized sport clubs, charity trusts, National Governing Bodies of sport or County Sport Partnerships (Pitchford and Collins, 2010). There are, however, a number of opportunities to work within education (schools, colleges, universities), the youth service, community projects, and professional sport clubs. Typical job titles for graduates would include Sport Development Manager, Sport Development Officer, Sport-specific Development Officer (e.g. football, rugby), Community Sports Coach, School Sport Coordinator, Physical Activity Coordinator. Over 35% of the sport development workforce are recent graduates aged 25-34, and an increasing number are going on to take postgraduate qualifications including PGCEs and masters-level programmes (Pitchford and Collins, 2010).

Expected knowledge and skills that the entrant will have on entry to the programme:

BA(Hons) Sport Development and Coaching 3year / sandwich 4 year

Admission regulations are in accordance with those prescribed by University Regulations. A typical entrant would be expected to have GCSE English and Mathematics at Grade C or above and a UCAS Tariff score of 200-240. This score can be achieved from a minimum of two 6-unit GCE A-levels or equivalent. Entrants would be expected to have passion for sport and some experience of working within the sport industry would be an advantage, but is not essential. Good communication skills are essential as students will be assessed in a number of ways including both written work and oral communication, and at times through the course will be expected to converse and work with external organisations. Entrants must be prepared to take responsibility for their learning, and be willing to work both individually and as part of a team and to participate fully in course activities. Basic ICT skills will be an advantage.

For BA (Hons) Sport Development and Coaching with Foundation Year (4 years)

Applicants who do not meet the minimum requirements for the 3-year programme, or those who do not feel fully prepared for a Level 4 course, will be considered for the 4-year programme including a Foundation Year.

Please see the University's General Entry Requirement webpages for requirements for entry at this level.

SECTION B: PROGRAMME AIMS, OUTCOMES, LEARNING, TEACHING AND ASSESSMENT METHODS

Programme Aims

The main educational aims of the programme are to:

- Produce culturally-aware graduates who have the critical knowledge of sport development and coaching and are inclusive and responsive to the diverse needs of the community
- Enable students to adopt a creative approach to working in the sport industry founded on a sound conceptual and practical knowledge base and positive practical skills
- Foster a spirit of enquiry and equip students with the skills necessary for ethical, applied research
- Open doors for students with public and private sector sport industry partners and provide practical coaching opportunities in a range of settings

Programme Learning Outcomes

A. Knowledge and Understanding

On successful completion of the programme a graduate will be able to:

1. Build knowledge of the key organisations and structures responsible for sport and an understanding of their functions and relationships with one another
2. Identify and critique the dimensions, intricacies and evolution of sport development
3. Theorise the situational factors impacting on sport development policy and processes
4. Appraise the social and political factors that impact on the role and skills needed of a sports coach

B. Intellectual/Cognitive Skills

On successful completion of the programme a graduate will be able to:

1. Research, reflect on and challenge theories and concepts of equality and diversity in sport and use these to understand sport participation needs
2. Critically reflect on the sport development needs and constraints in the contexts of both community and educational settings
3. Evaluate the approaches to recruiting and managing people in the sport industry
4. Assess and apply theory and factual information that may impact on the strategic direction of sport in the UK and set objectives for sport development
5. Monitor and critically evaluate the impact of ongoing and new sport development initiatives

C. Practical Skills

On successful completion of the programme a graduate will be able to:

1. Design, promote and manage sport events and/or initiatives that respond to identified needs
2. Tailor and deliver coaching programmes to a range of sport participant groups
3. Design, conduct and present research that identifies and investigates issues appropriate to the sport development and coaching sector, and beyond
4. Communicate effectively with industry practitioners, sport participants and professional bodies.

D. Key/Transferable Skills

On successful completion of the programme a graduate will be able to:

1. Apply personal responsibility and reflective practice to identify professional development needs in a process of life-long learning
2. Review critically current research and primary sources (for example, refereed research articles and/or original materials appropriate to sport development)
3. Evaluate critically arguments, assumptions, abstract concepts and data to make judgements and to frame appropriate questions and propose solutions to a problem

Learning, Teaching and Assessment Methods to achieve the Programme Learning Outcomes

BA (Hons) Sport Development and Coaching aims to provide a balanced programme of study that equips students with industry knowledge and experience, academic and cognitive, and critical and transferrable skills, which will create culturally aware, prepared and responsive graduates. The course is underpinned by classroom-based teaching of current theory, concepts and research, delivered through a blend of lectures, interactive seminars and workshops, small-group activities and debates and supported at every stage by e-learning material. During the Foundation Year, students will be exposed to a variety of summative and formative assessments whilst developing the academic skills to be a successful student at university; course content and Learning Outcomes strongly relate to students developing their knowledge and understanding of the subjects being studied and assessed. Additionally, throughout the three levels of study students are encouraged and enabled to form relationships with external partners including local, regional, national and international, to build networks in the longer term and essential vocational knowledge and experience in the shorter term.

Students are encouraged to become increasingly more independent in their learning as the course progresses. At Level 4 students are provided knowledge of the sport development and coaching industries in lectures and undertake related discussion and exercises in seminars and workshops where they receive guidance and support from module tutors. Students undertake coaching qualifications under the guidance of some of our industry partners and engage in practical coaching activities under the supervision of qualified lecturing staff. Through the Level 4 module, SL409 Professional and Academic Skills for Sport, students 'learn to learn' and are provided the foundation for developing the knowledge and skills required of all elements of the course and for life-long learning. Further modules introduce students to functional tools for working in the sport development industry, such as basic budgets, costing and marketing (e.g. SL416), as well as inter and intra personal skills in leadership and teamwork (e.g. SL473), the initial stimulation of critical, cognitive abilities (e.g. SL416) and basic research tools (e.g. SL474), alongside introductory knowledge of the sport development and coaching industries and a foundation in psychology to support effective coach development (e.g. SL422, SL415, SL416).

At Level 5, students are expected to take a more active role in their own learning and future careers, to apply theoretical knowledge and to show deeper understanding as the complexity of the issues covered in modules increases. Applied research becomes interwoven with community-based learning where students employ the theory to develop, manage and evaluate 'real world' initiatives and projects in a number of modules (e.g. SL517, SL531, SL596) and place a strong emphasis on continuing professional development, especially through the core module, SL597 Working in Sport Development and Coaching, which includes a minimum of 40-hours work experience. The Level 5 module, SL520 Research in Sport and Exercise, prepares students for the research dissertation at Level 6, in which they have the opportunity to draw all conceptual, vocational and research elements of the course together via a major independent study. Coaching theory and practical coaching skills are advanced with a focus on the growth and development of athletes, and students have the opportunity to earn another coaching award in SL519. Students are also able to select a 15-credit option module in each semester, which allows them to tailor their programme to a small extent by engaging in elements of sport business management, sport and exercise science, sport psychology or sport-specific studies. As in Level 4, modules are delivered through a blend of lectures, interactive seminars, workshops, small-group activities and debates and are supported by e-learning material delivered through the VLE, with specific learning and teaching approaches determined at modular level.

At Level 6 the focus turns to the macro environment for sport development, especially strategic management skills, and reflexive and professional practice in coaching. The broader approach to teaching and learning at Level 6 is aligned to independent learning and the students' ability to critically review and analyse, synthesise and evaluate the information at their disposal in order to make informed and self-assured decisions for a more inclusive and socially-conscious sports world. The core modules of SL652 Strategies in Youth Sport, SL617 Funding for Sport and SL631 Working in Exercise Health and Fitness combine practical knowledge and tools for advancing sport development with the improvement of academic intelligence around critical thinking, analysis and synthesis, and self-reflection, as well as problem solving, decision-making and engagement with CPD. The aforementioned Research Dissertation (SL620) provides further opportunity for students to develop autonomous working practices, where they are challenged to plan, design, execute and disseminate a significant piece of work. In addition, further 15-credit option modules allow students to continue to pursue a particular interest.

Like the teaching and learning strategy, the specific assessment methods are determined at modular level, but are designed to reflect the course aims and learning outcomes, to equip students with industry knowledge and experience, academic and cognitive, and critical and transferrable skills, which will create culturally aware, prepared and responsive graduates for an inclusive and socially-conscious sport industry. To this end, while there is a varied diet of assessment at all three levels, it is predominantly coursework-based and, where possible, is designed to mirror 'real world' sport development or coaching activities, such as designing, implementing and evaluating coaching programmes and sport development initiatives, applying for funding, appraising policy, and reflecting on practice.

Work-Based / Placement Learning

A period of work-experience is located in the module SL597 Working in Sport Development and Coaching and takes place at a pivotal point in the course, mid-way through Level 5. All students are expected to complete at least 40-hours of work experience and to reflect on this as part of their CPD to be included in Coursework 1 of the module. The department continuously pursues new partnerships optimising opportunities to enhance the student experience and promote experiential learning, and these partnerships may be exploited by students seeking work-experience. Modules at Level 4 (e.g. SL423, SL473) as well as workshops in the Sport Development Practice module itself, prepare students for applying for and undertaking their work-experience. Specifically, to facilitate field learning students will have the opportunity to formally liaise with members of the university careers team. Students may also take-up coaching experience and where this is with children, a Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check may be necessary. In SL631 students are asked to reflect on their learning experiences over the previous two years, this could include the formal coaching qualifications (SL411 & SI519) or the professional training/ CPD events (SL519, SL597, SL517) in relation to their work experience gained in SL519, SI531, and SL615) or any other work experience gained during their studies (many student work part time as coaches in addition to their required studies).

SECTION D: CONTACT HOURS

Hours are worked on the basis of full-time study. 1 Academic Credit is equated to 10 notional learning hours. A full-time undergraduate student will study 120 credits in an academic year which is therefore equated to 1200 notional hours. Module Descriptors provide detailed breakdowns of the categories given below.

Table 4: Breakdown of Contact Hours

Year of course	Scheduled Learning and Teaching Activities	Guided Independent Study	Placement / Study Abroad	Total
Year 1 (Level 4)	291 (24%)	909 (76%)	0	1200
Year 2 (Level 5)	369 (31%)	831 (69%)	0	1200
Year 3 (Level 6)	234 (20%)	966 (80%)	0	1200

Total	871 (24%)	2729 (76%)	0	3600
--------------	------------------	-------------------	----------	-------------

Note: Table above reflects a 'typical' experience for a student and exact hours will depend on module options chosen at Levels 5 and 6

Students who study this programme with a Foundation Year will complete an additional 1200 hours during that year.
